

The most effective way to communicate with government at all levels

Welcome to Leadership in Local Government. This publication is a direct communication channel between the public and private sectors. It is also used by the various government departments to communicate with one another. It is a perfect vehicle to profile your company and get your message across.

DISTRIBUTION

10 000 copies are placed in the hands of all decision-makers in both government and big business. The publication is distributed directly to all National, Provincial and Local Government departments (including all metropolises and municipalities). It is also distributed to the CEOs and MDs of the top 350 JSE-listed companies in the country as well as selected members of SACOB (South African Chamber of Business) and NAFCOC (National Federation of the Chamber of Commerce).
